"C.Q.C." is issued on the first and fifteenth of each month, by the Borderland Sciences Research Associates, 3524 Adams Avenue, San Diego 16, California. Twelve issues (6 months) for $5.00; six issues (3 months) for $2.50; two issues for $1.00. Contains only short articles and miscellaneous material, supplementary to the BSR bi-monthly ROUND ROBIN. . . . . Meade Layne, Director.

CLIPS from South Africa — Assoc. D.T. Kenny of Pretoria sends us clips on 'Saucer' activity in that part of the world. To quote some of the title lines:

"Flying Saucer" Shot into Air and Vanished. (14 observers). Mysterious Flying Objects at Vereeniging (five objects travelling at terrific speed. Three observers, including a former fighter pilot). -- SAAF Saucer File has Reports of 22 Sightings. (This is South African Air Force and the sightings are "recent". Highly diversified in color, shape, and activity)... S.A. Defence Hdqrs. Is Investigating 'Saucer' Reports. (As in the US, some of the 'authorities' take the matter very seriously, others ignore it or look for some easy 'natural' explanation).

Mysterious Object on Radar Screen at Cape in 1952. Made six Trips Across Peninsula at 1278 m.p.h., Say Report. (Official reports on this only lately released).

Finally, from Assoc. Kenny, "Ball of Fire Nearly Hit Farm House (there was a "tremendous roar, then a high-pitched reverberating whine after the impact with the earth").

and from Newton Center, Mass. — Assoc. Florence L. Tyler sends a clip about a rain of frogs, all kinds and sizes, over a mile long avenue. This same area has on record a fall of red snow, a rain of fish, and a tornado. There are many instances of a localization of "falls" and other odd phenomena - occurring successively in the same area. This points up once again our utter ignorance of the locale and nature of the 'etheric planes' and their relation to our own level of perception. Anyhow, 'frogs from heaven are news' writes Assoc. F.L.T.

(On this last point, I hope to be able to offer our readers and Associates, in a short time, a remarkable and revolutionary concept of the etheric worlds or planes, derived from an occult source in which I have much confidence, and thru him from Instructors who are themselves on the Etheric levels - and are not ex - carnate humans.-- It is the part of wisdom for all of us, to bear in mind t h a t we know almost nothing concerning these mysterious worlds and peoples. "Etheria" is a portmanteau word - into which each user stuffs whatever pleases him at the moment).

END OF SECRECY: Concerning short-wave communications from the Space People (they are to be taken as actual and authentic), Editor Pelley of VALOR magazine has the hopeful idea that these communicators may adopt the policy of exposing every sort of fraudulent and dangerous project threatening human welfare -- secret plans for war, for example, and treachery in high places. We worked out this concept ourselves, years ago, but on a basis of telepathy and clairvoyance becoming common and trustworthy abilities -- It might just be, that if our Etherean visitors could and would detect every piece of large-scale rascality and promptly broadcast it on all wave lengths, to everybody, with all the necessary details of names and dates and places -- perhaps in such case the idea that "honesty is the best policy" might become very dominant and effective indeed.

This is by no means merely a scientifiction pipe-dream, and the possible consequences of such a policy (of a gold-fish bowl for all fish of notable size - of prompt publicity for every conspirator, plunderer, exploiter, would-be Hitlers and Stalins) offer fascinating speculations. There would probably be a war or two, and various social and political upheavals. And could humanity supply enough honest men to replace the displaced rascals, enough wise or sensible men to displace all the fools? -- As to the Etherian point of view about all this, I suggest that we remember the advice of the M.P.Control: "These people do not have the same moral and ethical standards which you lay claim to - consequently you must not expect to predict their actions..." (They can do what they wish, and their wishes may not coincide with ours).

Psychic Observer for January 10 prints the first of a series of articles by Dr. Gilbert N. Holloway, headed "Coming of the Space Men & Other Prophecies". There are certain new imponderables, he says, among which the aereforms ('saucers) are conspicuous. The reporting of them, however, by the press, magazines and other means " is one of the most ludicrous, incompetent and bungling jobs in the history of American journalism ... but finally certain hard facts began to emerge". The extra-terrestial origin of the visiting craft is now regarded as highly probable even by many scientists, but the matter is by no means solved by regarding them as inter-planetary."The problem touches on the realm of psychic and occult science. The assertion is made by Etheric informants that many of these craft originate in the etheric world and return to it." 'The Controls of Mark Probert (the well-known trance medium whose work has been studied by the B.S.R. Associates since 1946) have always asserted that the 'saucers' in the main are of etheric origin, are mentally constructed in the etheric, but 'materialize' in the neighborhood of our planet by means of a conversion of their energy rates. . . .

Dr. Holloway's view is optimistic. He thinks these visiting people are observers and helpers coming to our aid in an extremely critical period. He quotes the assertions of the Controls referred to, that the red shift (the expansion of the island universes) has produced critical physical conditions affecting all planets and systems. Many of these space people are "Guardians" whose business it is to watch over all bodies in the solar system. It is also possible, indeed probable, that they may intervene to prevent a world war with atomic weapons (or worse) .... Quite apart from - and prior to - Dr. Holloway's approval of the BSR investigations, we have strongly endorsed his writings and lecture work, as being among the very best offerings of the kind now before the American public. From the spiritualistic standpoint also, his present series of articles in Psychic Observer is important and significant. -- (Psy.Ob. address is 10 E. 4th St., Jamestown, N.Y. ---- Address Dr. Gilbert N. Holloway at Box 27866, Los Feliz Station, Los Angeles 27, Calif.).

Some time, some where and maybe, when the "Day of Great Violence" is past, somebody will say by voice or print, something like this:

..." From the year 1946, when the incursion of the so-called Saucers first became a matter of debate,down to the denouement of 1954, only one intelligent and intelligible account of these phenomena was offered the public anywhere -- and this account, which eventually proved correct in all essentials, was received from excarnate communicators by means of deep trance mediumship. It is true that this instance is most exceptional, since out of the whole mass of spiritualistic communications received throughout the world during this period there is no similar statement to be found, or any other worthwhile account from excarnate humans. This failure is now understood, and it would be improper to place this single achievement to the credit of either spiritualism or spiritism ... yet it is an important historical event, in that it demonstrates the boundless possibilities offered by communication with wise and good human beings on the 'other side' of life, and by proper and intelligent cooperation between the 'astral' and the physico-chemical 'planes' of existence..... In the decade following 1946, spiritualism, occultism, and all forms of religionism signally failed us, but the world service of the "M.P. Controls" and their intermediary brighten and to some extent redeem these colossal stupidities...."

Notes on Pyramids:

Letter from "Geordie" to Editor of Pendulum Lon., Eng. (Nov.'53).

Your note on Pyramids in the October "Pendulum" prompts me to report a recent success. A friend of mine received a present of four goldfish. One of these had died in transit and I asked him to let me have it for an experiment. I mounted it on a support about two inches high, set in the middle of the base of a square pyramid the vertical height of which was six inches. From the first day there was no evidence of putrifaction, no offensive odour or evidence of fungoid or bacterial growth, and at the end of the week it was quite rigid and dessicated. It is still holding its own, and though the eyes are sunken its colour scheme is nearly as good as that of the other three under water. Scores of similar experiments have been controlled and reported in recent years in continental papers.

The model pyramid must have dimensions proportional to those of the Great Pyramid, the height of which is given as 148.208 meters, and the base as 232.805 meters. This means that the edges of each triangular face are 221.501 meters. Hence the ratios of edge to height are

$$\frac{221.501}{148.208} = 1.4946.\text{ \& base to height} = 1.5708$$

For my six-inch pyramid I multiply each of these factors by 6, and get (to two places of decimals): 8.97" on edge, and 9.42" for base, The pyramid is set on a flat surface with one of the triangular sides facing north.

The geometrical center of the pyramid is at a point one third of the vertical height. Some workers have gotten mummification with the object lying on the floor.

To orient the pyramid, one continental writer says that the pendulum, held over the vertex, ceases to gyrate when one triangular side faces north. For me it begins to gyrate only when this is done. I wonder if the personal equation comes in here, since I am not left-handed.

DEUS EX MACHINA by Egerton Sykes in "Pendulum" iv-2, Nov.'53

'... Patent specifications for the Drown apparatus show it to be a simple link-up of a photo-electric cell, with 3 chokes (2 iron cored) on the negative line and 3 rheostats , from one to 50 ohms on the positive side, plus a crystal detector and a copper condenser. A simple arrangement and one which in the opinion of the writer, is insufficient alone to accomplish much. BUT - and here is the important factor, the moment a human being with strong mediumistic or other extra-sensory gifts is put into the circuit, surprising results are attained. A new type of relationship between machine and man is in process of evolution, as hitherto men have operated machines but have not themselves formed integral parts of them ...but no apparatus has of itself any supersensory powers which will operate without human intervention. The automatic operation of electronic radiesthesia equipment is not, and is unlikely ever to be, possible... Whether the operator employs a pendulum, a rod, or more elaborate appliances, the results will only be in proportion to the extra-sensory powers of the user - and those who are skilled will doubtless obtain remarkable results from complicated equipment ... I have left out the question of possible external forces, as for the moment it seems to belong more to metaphysics than to radiesthesia, but it is one which should be taken into serious consideration,

PYRAMID EFFECTS: Assoc. R.V.T., city official of Grand Haven, Mich., writes that he is "about as psychic as a concrete mixer" - but still got interested in CQR stories about razor blades, food preservation and so on, and so made a few experiments for himself. "So far" he writes, "I have shaved 33 times with one blade, and the last shave was as good as the first one." Reasoning that the absence of water vapor under the pyramid might be an important factor, he experimented with calcium chloride, but with negative results as shown below:

"Under laboratory conditions, placed 10g. of CaCl, commercial grade, (Dowflake, nearly anhydrous) under each of the following containers. 1. A cardboard pyramid base 4" square, corners 3-3/4" base to apex. 2. A cardboard box 3.6" square and 1" high -- same volume and same material as the pyramid. 3. An inverted 400 ml. glass beaker. 4. A waxed cardboard ice cream cup of about 150 ml. 5. A 10g. quantity in open air.

These were placed on 3" filter papers on a shelf side by side with the described containers used as covers. The bases did not sit down very tight and air could move in or out. The beaker had a pouring spout which provided a small opening to the surrounding air. Gain in weight at intervals, should indicate moisture accumulation in and on the chloride. It was as follows:

Container	Initial Net Wt. of Cacl	Net weight after the following time 24 Hrs.	48 Hrs.	72 Hrs.	163 Hrs.
Pyramid #1.	10g.	10.63	11.13	11.44	13.31
Box #2.	"	10.64	11.14	11.47	13.23
Beaker #3.	"	10.26	10.56	10.73	11.64
i.c.cup #4.	"	10.29	10.60	10.77	11.76
Open Air #5.	"	11.27	11.94	12.57	*

* CaCl dissolved and ran all over. Couldn't weigh. The weather became rainy and rather humid during observations. Conclusions: (a.) The pyramid shows no property to impede or repel moisture vapor more than another container of similiar material and size. (b.) The pyramid is not as effective to repel moisture vapor as either of two less pervious containers, i.e., the beaker and the ice cream cup. (c.) Moisture must travel through or under these containers to some extent with the air, although not as freely as in open air." (RVT).

This is meticulous, systematic work - always very welcome in BSR publications. We would like to have more experiments with cut flowers, and with food stuffs both faw and cooked. I repeat here briefly the explanation given by the M.P. Controls (if I understand it correctly): 'The dulling of the edge comes mainly from oxidation, not from wear. Decay of foods etc. is also oxidation... that is to say, combustion - heat radiation. When oxidation is greatly retarded you get (in foods) dehydration, or dessication - mummification. The four triangles of the pyramid effect this by deflecting the heat wave/particle from one interior face to another, and finally back to its point of origin... There are immense triangular formations of etheric matter in space which in a similar way deflect stellar radiations and distort astronomical measurements ... These pyramid effects should be beneficial in a medical and therapeutic way, as in inhibiting and drying up cancerous tissues, skin diseases etc. ...'

"Ghost Lady" on the TV screen — Our thanks to the half-dozen or more Associates who sent us clips about this oddity. The image of a woman's face appeared on the screen of a television set* in the home of Jerry Travers, in Blue Point, N.Y. It remained for about two days, "whether the set was in operation or not". "Explanation" so far offered - an "explosion of electrons" during a television show" burned the image af a singer into the inner coating of the tube. In Chicago G.E.Gustafson, chief research engineer for the company that manufactured the set, said the phenomenon was "wholly unknown to TV electronics" and that the explanation just referred to was "not plausible". (* date: 12-11-53)

Tinfoil from heaven - or somewhere — This is the third or fourth report of falls of "tinfoil" which has come to BSR Hdqrs. Mark Probert, just now in Seattle, sends it in. A Kansas City dispatch of Dec. 11 describes the "foil" as being in strips up to 200 feet in length and about half an inch wide, resembling what was used in world war II to jam radar equipment. The A.F. base at Topeka and Central Air Defense at Kansas City denied all knowledge of the strips. Unimpressed housewives found them handy for Christmas trees!

"Garbage cans walk, lamps jump" ..... is a Cinn. Times-Star headline of Nov. 13, '53. Two successive and rather lengthy articles describe a series of violent poltergeist phenomena at No. 1020 W. 8th St. Two women, their two daughters, and a "tiny" granddaughter live in the house. A professor of psychology from the University of Cinn. "who has made an extensive study of poltergeists" is interested, says "there are some forces in the world man has not mastered." (Bravo- tho' I doubt whether he has really mastered any of them). Plagued by a crowd of 600-odd curiosity seekers, the grandmother (Mrs Regler) promises "another kind of phenomenon" in the shape of a deluge from the hose unless the police clear the street.

If you're interested in poltergeists we recommend Haunted People by Carrington and Fodor (Dutton & Co.,1951. $3.50). This book contains, by the way, Dr. Fodor's scholarly effort-and-failure to explain the famous Bell Witch case - than which I know nothing more alarming in its implications in the whole history of psychism (or occultism or fantastic improbables that really happen). And Gef the TalkingMongoose, in the same book, also remains a bit too much for the psychoanalysts to get rid of.

Not only are the "Saucers" now widely accepted as factual, but considerable attention is being given to the relation between sightings and the relative positions of earth, Mars, and the sun. But it will not do, we think, to assume that Mars is the point of origin, or the habitat of the Saucer people. Our own sources of info. have often pointed out that Mars and Venus both may be "way stations" only - and that many of the large ships -- the true space craft - come "even from beyond the galaxies". Now the possibility of this, and of thinking about it rationally, re - quires a different approach than most of us can make. There is no "crossing of space" (hundreds of light years at the speed of light) and no centuries of transit-time involved in the matter. These people and their craft are EMERGENTS out of a different space-time frame of reference. They convert energy rates and so pass into our range of perception. The physics in a sense is elementary, but not exactly text-book stuff. We have repeated it often and go on repeating it - an utterly thankless business but a necessary gesture at any rate.

As an example: at the urging of several Associates we sent a synopsis of the above concept to FATE magazine; their reply note reads that Fate tries "to concentrate on actual cases or incidents" and that what we sent them is "too speculative". This is understandable in a purely commercial publication; it would not be understandable in the BSR; and in a hundred tons of "actual cases" there may not be a single constructive idea to help in understanding any of them.

"Leprechaun Rumpus" in Dublin: This seems to be about the ne plus ultra of recent oddities. Dispatch in the Sunday Express (L.A.?), Oct. 25, read in part: 'Mrs Kathleen McQuire claims to have found the strange little creature under a mushroom in Phoenix Park... Neighbors declared "he's a real little leprechaun all right, with perfect features and one leg crossed over the other. Medical students examined the 3-inch high putty-colored specimen thru magnifying glasses and said: he has the face of a man aged about forty. Thousands of people flocked to see the creature ... until some one kidnapped the leprechaun. Five men were stated to be involved in the plot, and the McQuires are claiming 170 pounds compensation from the proprietor of the fair where leprechaun was exhibited...'

(For once CQC should follow the example of the press and make no comment at all on this story. But all students of 'occult' matters, many clairvoyants and investigators of 'Fortean' data are aware that the little people have been and still are very real inhabitants of our world, though usually outside our levels of perception. As to this particular instance, of course, we have no special information pro or contra. But 'it's a better item than an A-bomb' says columnist Leonard Wibberley.

Other Headlines: Britain Officially Records Sighting of Saucer (Nov.19). Britons Report Seeing Mystery Air Spheroid (twice in Nov.). Saucer is Sighted in Skies of Sweden (Dec.19). Swedish Saucer Said Russ Robot (promptly denied by the Russians). Flying Saucer Seen in Highland County; Four are Witnesses (Hillsboro, Ohio, Nov.3, '53). Alien Thing from Mars? (Transport Dept. Telecom. expert W.B. Smith believes, on basis of two years study, that there is a %60 probability of the Saucers being from outer space). This last from the Ottawa Journal, Nov. 11, '53.

And the Courier-Journal of Louisville, Ky. (June 14, '53) reprinted a very odd incident of March 1856, when a "rain of knitting needles" fell on Harrodsburg (Ky). "There was a severe storm one night and the following morning thousands of needles were found scattered over the western edge of town..." Usual explanation - that a storm wrecked a factory somewhere and carried off the needles (only?). No one seems to have reported a lost factory.

The Beacon Light Herald for Sept. '53 prints a blistering article by Dr.Hoxsey on the practises of orthodox medicine in the treatment of cancer - including not only its "hall of horrors" but the outrages perpetrated on patients who do not have cancer at all (false diagnoses). Organized medicine comes close to being Public Enemy No. 1 in the USA at present. (The Herald is published at Atascadero, Calif. Copy .25; yr. $3.00).

Abominable Snowman in Nebraska? THE ROUNDHOUSE for Dec. 1953 reprints a singular letter received by SIR magazine: the writer reports having seen the Snowman either two or three times about 4½ miles east of Bubbell, Nebr. First sighting was Feb. 22, 1922. Left tracks 20 inches in length. Believed by the writer to have landed from a Saucer. Roundhouse is recommended by us, has been distributed free but increased demand makes some financial help necessary - so enclose some kind of contribution when sending for copies. Published by the Cup & Saucer Club, Maquoketa, Iowa. Neal Kearney, Ed., RR 3; Pearl Stoll, Sec., 310 So. 5th St. (Maquoketa).

DEFENDER MAGAZINE for Dec. '53 has a "Cured of Cancer" article; also "De. Schirmer Wins Smashing Victory; and Lincoln Treatment Administered at Fort Worth. We publicise and support Defender on the ground of its long-continued struggle against the outrages of organized medicine. The latest of these and one of the worst is the current persecution of the Electronic Medical Foundation (& Digest). Defender is published at Wichita, Kansas. $1.00 per yr.

(Magic Touch comes to us from BSR Associate Carl H. Betz (Philadelphia) - as an 8 x 11" reproduction of a page from Sunday Graphic of London, Nov. 1, '53. The account is obviously very inadequate, but may stimulate some similar experimentation among naturopaths and even among the few enlightened M.D.s).

MAGIC TOUCH:

-by James Dow, in Sunday "Graphic"(Nov. 1, 1953)-London, England.- -'Faith healer's radioactive power can now be measured.-- Healing rays pass through a patient's wrist. -- Today as full investigations into faith healing by the Church of England commission get under way, I can reveal that a prominent Harley St. doctor has perfected an instrument which actually records the forces coming from a faith healer's hands.-So for the first time faith healing is now not only a proved physical power, but it can be recorded and measured scientifically.

The doctor has demonstrated this instrument to leading Harley Street specialists. They saw the radiations from his hands visually recorded. -Gold Leaf Test: The doctor used his electroscope which contains in a bottle a piece of uranium salt, a conductor and a gold leaf.

He "laid hands" on a patient and his colleagues watched how the radiations passing from the doctor through the patient's arm flowed into the instrument and caused a violent flickering of the gold leaf indicator.-What Was Coming Out Of The Healer's Hands Was In Fact A Flow Of Radioactivity. -- He was not claiming anything unique in this. Many people have this power; many like him have used it to effect remarkable cures.-- But he has established that their power is the unusual radioactivity in their bodies, which they are able to transmit through their hands, to remove disease or obstructions in other people's bodies. -- The far-reaching importance of this discovery cannot be over-emphasized. For obvious reasons I cannot give the discover's name.

But I can now tell how his researches and efforts so impressed the higher circles of his profession that he was approached during an emergency caused by a grave illness to try to save the important life concerned. Death intervened before his remarkable powers could be brought into play.

The astounding story behind the Harley St., man's discovery began during his career as a naval surgeon. While in the Pacific pondering on the subject of faith healing both as a doctor and as a very religious man, he began certain tests with himself. He soon became convinced that he possessed power himself. Holding one hand above and another below a plate of dried peas, he passed this radioactivity through them. -- Before his eyes, they began to sprout green shoots. - Some of them thrust their shoots two inches in length. --"My shipmates began to lay bets on which pea would sprout the furthest in so many minutes", he told me. - This was the be - ginning. -

On his return to Harley St. he began to use this power for healing, and obtained some remarkable cures. - He told me how finally a surgeon sent him a doctor patient "to try his powers on". Before the doctor was due to arrive, he started to pray that the God-given power in his body would be strong and effect this cure. And immediately he was aware that he was making a mistake. -- The power of healing was not given for any one particular person. He altered his prayer accordingly.

(cont'd)...(Magic Touch:)... 'It was strange', he told me. 'I had to see a poor man before the doctor came. This patient, a laborer, had a sadly twisted neck. As soon as I approached him with my hands I sensed that the power was flowing through them stronger than ever. - The man's back muscles began to twitch like a water diviner's. He turned his neck straight right away. He walked out of my consulting rooms, back and head held straight for the first time in a year.

'But when the doctor patient came in, all my power seemed to be used up. It was almost an hour before I could get any results at all, and then they were minor'.

An essentially modest man, all he claims at the moment is that he has established what the healing power is, and that it can now be studied scientifically.- But it is already obvious that the British medical-scientific world has a clear duty.

First, with the aid of this new "electroscope" or a developed version of it, those people who have the healing power in their hands can be easily selected -- and given training.

Secondly, the full and proper use of this God-given power can be studied a n d directed.-- For with scientific backing, greatly extended use of healing powers may well be possible'.

ANENT THE IMPENDING FLOOD

Hugh A. Brown, E.E.

Each year the South Pole Ice Cap grows larger and heavier; because about 5½ trillion tons of fresh snowfall is added annually. The snow of Antarctica is like fine grained sand, which does not melt because of the continuous cold. The growing Ice Cap is now two miles high at the Polar Plateau, and covers a land area of approximately six million square miles; about double that of the United States.

The recently discovered wobbling motion of our spinning globe naturally causes the Ice Cap to rotate partially off-center. The question we have to consider is -- how far off center can it gyrate and how heavy must it be before the 'Throw' created by its eccentric centrifugal force of rotation will force the globe to careen sideways and cause the ocean waters to again swish over the land?

We can postpone this impending flood because we have the knowledge and the ability to control and limit the further growth of this Ice Cap. The normal safety valve for curtailing its growth is the demolition of the barriers to the natural flow-off of the icebergs along the 16,000 mile-long coast line of Antarctica . Men, ships, TNT and atomic energy are recommended; engineers are available; but a highly competent volunteer is needed to head up the organization, financing and direction of this gigantic enterprise.

Consider the case of a great water dam in which an engineer discovers a major construction flaw, before the dam has collapsed. He advises his clients immediately what they must do to avert disaster, discloses the physical defects and awaits his client's instructions. Similarly, when an engineer discovers an impending death sentence hanging over the heads of his clients, like the sword over the head of Damocles, his duty is to resolutely report the true though alarming facts. Each client must then recognize and assume his duty to start actions to remove the menace, lest the sword fall on his own head.

The rainbow in the sky is relied upon by some as a covenant that there will be no more floods. Please re-read your Bible, if you are one who thus seeks to excuse his inactivity at self-preservation, and note that God said to Adam, "Replenish the earth and subdue it." The Flood of Noah's day was clearly allowed to occur because the men of the Adam Period had not followed God's instructions; they had not subdued the earth. After the last Flood God said to Noah, "Bring forth abundantly in the earth"; which clearly means to use your brains and abilities to the utmost.

ETHERIAN CONTACTS:

The Communicators from whom Assoc. Rolf Telano receives much inportant information are excarnate humans resident in Etheric regions - arenot themselves Etherians. Our 1-B-52, "Flying Saucers" is a noteworthy contribution by them, and is the only existing classification of the types of aeroforms as these appear in our atmosphere. They have recently remarked on 'an increase in the vibratory frequency of the cosmic rays. The BSR Director put this same question to the Mark Probert Controls and was told:

> 'Yes, there is a marked increase, and this produces certain psychic and mental effects. Certain nerve cells hitherto inactive or below the conscious level in their action, are awakened by this impact. The effect is a stirring up of the mass mind, or racial mind, and of 'forgotten' experiences. This may often take the form of what you call pyschic sensitiveness and extended perception.

Question concerning a 'planet behind the moon' (Clarion?):

Varying replies to this are almost certainly a result of misunderstanding and a loose use of terms. The R.T. Communicators say there is no such planet - but there is and has been for centuries a kind of way-station on the "dark side" of Luna, and considerable activity has been based there. Assoc. R.T. points out (what seems very plausible) that the existence of this base has been confused with the existence of a small separate planet.

The M.P. Controls, lately questioned about this, replied that there is indeed a planet in that region, but about as far distant from Luna as the earth is from that satellite. . . In Vol. III of The Secret Doctrine (pg.562) is the statement: "There is now a planet, a Mystery Planet, behind the moon, and it is gradually dying. . . it will eventually send its principles to a new Laya Center... etc. -- According to the M.P. Controls the word dying is not accurate in this case, yet the planet in question has undergone various changes.

A SPECIAL NOTICE: In the next issue of Round Robin (IX-5, Jan.-Feb.,issued Feb. 1st) we are printing important mss. from "Dr. Kappa" - who will henceforth be referred to as "Gerald Light", since he is now writing under that name. His informants are Etherians (not excarnate humans) and he has been in contact with them at intervals for many years. Needless to say, Gerald Light does not pretend to speak with final knowledge and authority in his own right, but only to report what is given him and what he himself accepts. As I have said before, I have great personal confidence in his knowledge and integrity.(ml).

This material from Gerald Light includes a diagrammatic plan showing the relations of the Etheric regions to our earth (as we must think them in space), and inverts or reverses many traditional concepts. It also gives us a psychological perspective on the mentality of the Etherian races - a matter of supreme importance - and, thirdly, a short exposition of the role of concentration with reference to densities. About two-thirds of the RR issue will be devoted to this important subject matter. .. I wish to add, that Gerald Light has long been familiar with the mediumship of Mark Probert, has the highest respect for the Inner Circle communicators, and believes their knowledge of the Etherian worlds is valid and highly exceptional. --- We are also compiling a booklet consisting of statements by the Inner Circle on the whole problem of the Aeroforms. This booklet, along with the Rolf Telano brochure, the new material from Gerald Light (with more to come), and the data contained in our compilation "The Ethership Mystery" - together come close to summing up such factual and metaphysical knowledge as is available at this time, on the most extraordinary planetary situation in historical times. A Letter from Dr.Ostby

Dear Friend M.L.

I am nearing my 92nd birthday and have wished so much to leave after me, in book form, the result of my lifelong investigations and experiences, but on account of the labor involved had given up the thought when my friend F.R. Bartholomew, without being asked, begins to gather together the material into a nice little volume, which expresses my thoughts better than I could do; wherefore I with his permission, adopted this little volume and called it The Result. It expresses completely the convictions I have come to as a result of a lifelong study of the bible, Christianity, and other forms of religion

And Mr. Bartholomew has never asked for or received so much as a penny for all his time, work, and material, as I am not in a position to give him anything but a heartfelt "thank you".

I have written down a list of names and addresses of friends to whom I shall send this volume, and your name is on this list.

It is true that I shall have to pay for the binding and mailing of this little book, and some of my friends have already helped me toward this - and I believe that others will help a little also.

In this booklet I do not discuss my absolute knowledge of life after death, nor my remarkable experiences of spirit return, nor my ability to leave my body and roam around at will. Some of these things I mentioned in a book twenty-five years ago; but of course what I have learned in such ways is both foundation and evidence for the truth of my convictions expressed in The Result.

You may not agree with me at all in many ways, but I ask you to read the book slowly, with an open mind. If you do, I am sure you will agree with me - if not in this life, then in the light of eternity.

With best wishes and thanks for friendship, I wish to remain

Your friend forever
Dr.C.A.Ostby.

The "little book" referred to by Dr. Ostby is a 5 x 8½"- 48 page brochure, entitled "Selected Passages Dealing with the Origin of the New Testament -- from the Works of Reliable Historians." Compiled by F.R. Bartholomew, 2501 Irving Ave., S. Minneapolis, Minn. Dr. Ostby's own title for it is THE RESULT- and as such it is a rather remarkable achievement. The range of quotations, references and general reading over the field of "Christian Evidences" and the whole historical background is very extensive, and chosen with surety of touch and devastating effects. It once more makes the case for the actual "origin" of the "historical" Jesus, in the Hesus Christos of the Nicean Council (Constantine, 325 A.D.), plus the great repute of Apollonius of Tyana. Do not think this little book is dull because of its subject matter - not if you have the least interest in the never-ending struggle of free minds against the iniquities of priestcraft... Personally, I am all for the Doctor's RESULTS, and only wish they could be converted into the thoughts and acts of millions, who are likely to have to arrive at them by some hard and slow road of disillusionment. -- I don't know that Dr. Ostby and/or Mr. Bartholomew have any of these booklets to sell, but if you can get one it will be distinctly worth your while. (And since somebody has to pay for your copy, if any - why not you?).

Clips of interest: Masts Spout Fire -- Blazing Phantom Of Seas Reported. --(from San Diego, Calif. "Tribune", Dec. 5, 1953) -- Cape John, N.S.-- --The phantom ship of the Northumberland Strait is sailing the seas again, her slender masts spouting fire and ablaze from stem to stern.

At least, residents of this village say they have seen the old three-master twice within a week. Mrs. A. L. looked out her window one night when the strait between the mainland and Price Edward Island was wind-scuffed and choppy. She said she saw the phantom ship, gliding up the strait, fire streaking from her rigging and hull. Her neighbors watched the ship for an hour.

Two days later, just after supper, nearly all the residents watched the blazing vessel that has been sighted as long as dwellers along this coast can remember. "It has to be seen to be believed", the villagers say.

There is a difference of opinion as to the identity of the ship. Some people say it is the phantom of a pleasure ship that was destroyed by fire during a drinking bout many years ago. Others will tell you that it is a Scottish immigrant ship that set sail for Nova Scotia in the 18th Century and became lost at sea.-- And of course some people say its an optical illusion. Or that its caused by gases breaking thru the water from the submarine coal fields.

Many years ago, several sea captains from the nearby town of Pictou set sail to investigate the weird spectacle. When they neared her she vanished.

Flaming ships are not uncommon in the Maritimes. In New Brunswick residents tell about the ghost ship that sails the Bay of Chaleur.-And there's the "teaser light" of Mahone Bay, on Nova Scotia's south shore.

Mariners say the appearance of a phantom ship usually precedes a severe easterly storm. - The Weather Office, however, predicts improving weather. . . . . And Assoc. Verne L. Cameron sends us this interesting clip: (from Los Angeles "Times"-Jan. 3, 1954) -- "Weird 'Missing Links' Terrorizing Malayans"- "Come Out Of Jungle"-Singapore, Jan. 2, 1954 -- Security troops were ordered today to bring back alive a group of hairy, fanged jungle creatures whose appearance at outlying rubber plantations has left workers screaming in terror.

The weird half-ape, half-human creatures apparently have a weakness for tapioca and have been raiding tapioca patches for snacks. Workers who got near them said they smell bad but apparently want to be friendly. -- The "missing links", with protruding fangs and an animal smell, wandered out of the North Malaya jungles and first were seen on Christmas Day. Men and women fled in terror, and one woman fainted.

There was speculation the two men and one woman might be descendants of a race of hairy aborigines who, according to old legends, once roamed the forests of Northern Malaya. One official said they could be "one of the biggest anthropological discoveries in years".

Chinese workers on the rubber estate where they appeared believed they were vampires, but Malayan workers believed they were phantoms which can make themselves invisible at will. . . . . .

Calcutta, India - Jan. 3,'54 -- A Tibetan lama told a Calcutta newspaper today one of his fellow priests had spent "quite some time" meditating atop a Himalayan peak with an 8-foot speechless "abominable snowman".

Lama Chhemed Rigdziu Dorji Lopen told the newspaper Zugantar his scholar friend claimed to be on good terms with the mysterious apelike creatures thought t o inhabit the upper reaches of the world's most inacessible mountains. - He said the lama was Tsultung Zambo whom he described as Tibet's greatest scholar-lama, and that Zambo met the snowman when he went on a pilgrimage to the Chari Mountains in the Adnago area across the Eastern Tibetan border.

A Mrigu (Tibetan name for the strange creatures) came along as Zambo was meditating on a peak, Lopen said.

"He not only did not harm me", Zambo reportedly said, "but he positively helped me in my meditation; he was unable to speak, but he was very intelligent".

Zambo was quoted as saying the abominable snowman that will be sought by a British expedition this year, was eight feet tall and apparently quite friendly.

Lopen said he himself had seen mummified snowmen preserved in two monasteries. He agreed with Zambo on their height, but added they are apelike with dark skins and that their face and body were covered with half-inch long hair.

Lopen said he agreed with the common Tibetan belief that the snowman actually inhabits lower altitudes but strays to the mountain tops occasionally.

He said the mummified snowman he saw, called "yeti" by Himalayan Sherpas, were in the Riboche Monastery in the Kham Province of Eastern Tibet and in the Akya Monastery in Shigatse in Western Tibet. He said the lamas appeared to worship the mummies although they were"nothing but apelike creatures".

Reports about the abominable snowman have been made by several mountaineering expeditions to the Himalayas. The most notable was by the recent Everest expedition led by Brig. Sir John Hunt, which conquered the world's highest peak.

Hunt said members of his party saw footprints they could not identify. Briton Eric Shipton who led a reconnaissance expedition to Everest in 1951, reported the same type of footprints.

Aeroforms over Quantico:

News commentator Frank Edwards, evening of Jan.5, told of the appearance of "flying objects" of large size passing at tree-top height over Quantico Base, to the great disquiet of the authorities. Planes went up and there was a turn-out of military force - with usual negative results.

PENDULUM (Lon.) for Dec. '53 reviews briefly an article in Radiesthesie Pour Tous dealing with "the material action of the written word". This seems to mean that if a remedy is needed - say, Arnica - and the word arnica is written out (preferably in black ink on white paper), the pendulum when held over this "witness" gives the same reactions as when held over the arnica itself... Also, if one draws a small circle with a dot at the center under the word, the reaction is stronger - and better still with two or more concentric circles up to 12. "This carried on the person reacts in the same way as if a homeopathic potency were taken. Furthermore a paper carrying 12 concentric circles with the word CURE above, has amelior ated or cured many conditions when worn on the person.. The only thing asked is trial before condemnation, and the reading of the Servraux booklet on Radiesthetic Materializations. -- It is noted that the written word becomes more potent when left aside for a few days; also its reactions can be amplified if left for ten minutes inside a regular decagon traced in ink. It is well-known that several geometrical forms act as amplifiers; Solomon's Seal for example, or a simple rectangle with adjacent sides proportional to the Golden Number (1.618), and that the effect is increased by using several in pile formation."

Thus the old beliefs in signs and seals and charms take on new life - and it will not pay us to treat it like cigaret ash in the wrong place. There is so much to be said about it that we resist the temptation and say nothing more except 'try it yourself.'
